The Classless Profession: American Schoolmen in the Nineteenth Century

By Paul H. Mattingly

New York University Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 260 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. Professor Paul H. Mattingly's The Classless Profession: American Schoolmen of the Nineteenth Century is unquestionably a major contribution to the history of American education. It rests on a thorough command of the scholarship of the field and on a shrewd and original analysis of a great body of primary materials, many of which have not previously been carefully exploited. Merle Curti, University of Wisconsin, Pulitzer Prize Winner Mattingly's study should be read by everyone interested in the development of the public schools and of the teaching profession, and especially by those whose criticism of today's schools derives from a belief that things were much better in the 1870s than the 1970s. Albert Shanker, United Federation of Teachers Mattingly's book is superlative in its exploration of the distinctive cultural qualities of the teaching profession. Joseph Kett, Review of American History What remains solid and permanently useful. . . is his intellectual history of early leaders - the best such study to date. David Tyack, Journal of American History Mattingly is at his best describing the variegated experiences of early teachers as they sought to transform...
